

Intelligent Self-Leadership

— a web based solution

How are you taking care of your employees' wellbeing, renewal and efficiency?

Self Ltd:

You are the Managing Director of your own life.

wISL (web based Intelligent Self-Leadership) is a tool to support employees at all levels to lead themselves in a balanced way and reach good results at work and in their private life.

It also supports our objectives to build wellbeing and intelligent organizations. Start to use it in your organization and find out its strengths.

Investment in wellbeing pays multiple times back

This powerful web based service is based on the very successful self-leadership training program of PhD Pentti Sydänmaalakka, his professional experience in global corporations, his long academic research about the topic and his best-selling book "Intelligent Self-Leadership". The development work and traditional training started more than ten years ago and now we can offer it also as an innovative web based solution.

Offer your employees a tested web based solution and improve significantly their ability to cope in rapid and continuous change. wISL is available through a monthly license fee. The minimum commitment to see results is six months.

Employee benefits

- Understand the importance and content of self-leadership.
- Reflect about personal situation and set new ideas for personal renewal.
- Discover your own wellbeing index concerning your physical, mental, emotional, spiritual, professional and renewal condition.
- Develop your personal vision and development plan to implement it.
- Create and track projects to take you towards your vision.

In summary, the objective of wISL is to help professionals close the gap between knowing and doing by helping them to focus on the projects that get them closer to their vision.

Company benefits

- Ability to systematically support its employees' wellbeing and renewal.
- Discover wellbeing index of its employees and track it in the long term.
- Offer a tested personal development service to all of its employees.
- wISL is connected to performance management and supports the planning and development discussions.

In summary, intelligent self-leaders deliver better business results, think holistically and are able to link their individual performance to the organization's strategy and results.

Software as a service (SaaS) - The web tool is provided as a service so you don't have to invest in technology or worry about maintenance or security updates. All costs are covered by the monthly fee.
